Dear Community,

This Resource Guide is geared toward helping you and your loved ones make healthy choices. Inside you will find resources for substance abuse prevention and treatment, including how to communicate about drugs and alcohol with your children and how to take those first steps toward recovery if needed.

At the Allston-Brighton Substance Abuse Task Force (ABSATF), we strive for a healthier Allston-Brighton, and this guide is just one of many tools we can share with you. Please visit our website, www.abdrugfree.org, for more information.

You, too, can help out. The Task Force is a coalition of community agencies and residents, including youth, parents, business owners, and community leaders. We invite you to join our efforts. By mobilizing the community, with a special focus on youth, we can work together to raise awareness of and prevent substance abuse.

If you have any questions, need additional resources, or would like to get involved with the Task Force, please contact us at 617-789-2967.

Sincerely,

Deidre Houtmeyers & Sonia Mee

Substance Abuse Task Force
Our Mission and Values

Our Mission

The Allston-Brighton Taskforce is a coalition of community agencies and residents that mobilizes youth, families, community members and leaders to prevent and reduce substance abuse among youth and adults in our community. We aim to:

- Educate youth, families, community leaders and members
- Raise awareness about substance prevention and treatment
- Provide resources and support to families and community members
- Change community norms around substance abuse
- Support the goals of treatment and recovery services

Our Values

We respect addiction as a disease and believe in the power of recovery and prevention.

We call the community and each other to action and we believe in the possibility of positive change.

We value the rich diversity of the Allston-Brighton community and seek to assure that everyone is welcome and included in our work (or in the Task Force). Listening to each other and to those we serve, we engage the community in all our efforts, particularly youth and parents.

We work together with honesty and integrity to provide education, advocacy and other services and resources to address substance abuse and related problems in Allston-Brighton.
Part I

Youth and Substance Abuse: A Guide for Families
Why do young people use alcohol and drugs?

To feel good. To rebel. To fit in. To cope with pressure. To relax. To feel "grown up." These are natural desires, but adults must help children to cope in healthy ways. Staying informed about alcohol and drug usage will help you guide your child toward making positive choices. Here’s a quick quiz (answers below):

1. What is the most commonly used drug in the U.S.?
   a. heroin
   b. cocaine
   c. alcohol
   d. marijuana

2. Name the three drugs youth most commonly use.

3. Which drug is associated with the most teenage deaths?

4. Which of the following contains the most alcohol?
   a. 12-oz. can of beer
   b. cocktail with 1.5 oz. of distilled spirits
   c. 12-oz. wine cooler
   d. all contain equal amounts of alcohol

5. Crack is a particularly dangerous drug because it is
   a. cheap
   b. readily available
   c. highly addictive
   d. all of the above

6. Fumes from which of the following can be inhaled to produce a high?
   a. spray paint
   b. model glue
   c. nail polish remover
   d. whipped cream canister
   e. all of the above

7. True or false: A person who has not used alcohol or other drugs before he or she is 20 years old is less likely to develop an alcohol or drug problem.
Do any of these answers surprise you?

1. C. It is the most commonly used because it is legal for adults and widely accepted in our culture.

2. Alcohol, tobacco, and marijuana

3. Alcohol

4. D. All contain approximately 1.5 ounces of alcohol.

5. D. Small quantities of crack can be bought for as little as $5, and it is thought to be one of the most addictive drugs.

6. E. Virtually anything that emits fumes or comes in an aerosol form can be inhaled to obtain a high.

7. True. Early use of alcohol and other drugs – often by age 15 or under – is strongly associated with drug-related problems such as addiction.
Teens and Substance Abuse

Educating yourself on some of the most commonly used drugs can help you develop a prevention plan and identify a potential problem before it gets out of control.

Youths and alcohol
Adults who drink alcohol may find it more difficult to enforce a no-use rule for youths, but drinking alcohol is very dangerous for young people.

Let's look at the facts:
- Alcohol-related accidents continue to be the leading cause of death among young people ages 15-24.
- About half of all youth deaths in drowning, fires, suicide and homicide are alcohol-related.
- Since youths usually have a lower body weight than adults, they can reach a higher blood alcohol concentration.
- Usually, the younger a person begins using alcohol, the more likely that person is to have alcohol-related problems into adulthood.

Youths and prescription drug abuse
Prescription drug abuse is a growing problem, both nationwide and in our community. Drugs such as painkillers, psychostimulants, (e.g. Ritalin), anti-depressants, nasal decongestants, and cough medications can pose a risk for abuse. To prevent prescription drug abuse, keep inventory, including pill counts, of the medications in your household. Store medication in a locked cabinet, and when it is no longer needed, dispose of it by bringing it to a prescription drop-off location (not by flushing it down the toilet or throwing it in the garbage). Communicating with your teen is important to the prevention of prescription drug abuse. Talk often and honestly.

Youths and opiates (oxycontin and heroin)
Oxycontin and heroin are two commonly used opiates. Oxycontin is usually prescribed for severe pain, and, like other prescription drug abuse cases, most who report usage say they received the drug from someone they know. Both oxycontin and heroin, which cause intense relaxation and feelings of euphoria, are highly addictive.

Youths and tobacco
Of the youth who try cigarettes, 40% do so before entering high school. Nicotine, the drug in tobacco, is as addictive as heroin, and fewer than 20 percent of smokers are able to quit the first time they try.

Smoking tobacco can cause:
- Lung cancer
- Emphysema
- Heart attacks

Youths and marijuana
Some consider marijuana to be safe, but the drug has negative effects, both physically and mentally. The potency of marijuana, determined by type of plant, climate, soil conditions, time of harvesting, and other factors, has increased dramatically over the last three decades. The chief psychoactive (mind-altering) ingredient in marijuana is THC (delta-9tetrahydrocannabinol), which affects the nerve cells in the part of the brain where memories are stored.

Marijuana use can cause the following:
- Impaired short-term memory
- Intense anxiety
- Increased risk of depression and suicidal thoughts
- Difficulty with comprehension
- Long-term effects, such as lung damage and mental health issues
- Reduced ability to perform tasks such as driving or operating machinery
Youths and inhalants
Inhaling substances such as cleaning solvents, gasoline, aerosol sprays, and paint thinner is an extremely dangerous means of getting high. Inhaling these substances may cause: nausea, lack of appetite, coughing, lack of coordination, nosebleeds, brain and nervous system damage, suffocation.

Developing a Plan to Guide Your Children

Parents are a crucial part of a teen’s transition to adulthood, whether your teen appreciates your efforts or not. The first and most important thing all parents of teenagers must know - while your son or daughter may not show it in ways you understand, s/he does need you.

Model the behaviors you expect from your teen
A parent is a provider, a leader, a comforter, and a supporter. Perhaps above all, a parent is a teacher. Teach your child behaviors you expect by practicing those behaviors yourself.

Know the laws
Social host liability law in Massachusetts will hold you responsible for furnishing alcohol to anyone under the age of 21, except your own child in your own home. You cannot supply alcohol to someone else’s child, even if they “give you permission” to do so. Violating this law can lead to criminal or civil prosecution. The criminal penalty is a fine up to $2,000, imprisonment up to a year, or both. For more information visit www.socialhostliability.org.

Establish and enforce rules
Be specific. Explain the rules, the reasons for them, and the consequences of breaking them.
Be consistent. Make it clear that a no-alcohol/no-drug-use rule remains at all times—in your home, in a friend’s home, or anywhere your child is.

Determine appropriate consequences
Remove privileges such as use of the family car or the phone. Reward appropriate behavior by granting privileges. Discipline by taking them away.

Give options to avoid conflict and build decision-making skills
Saying no is hard for some parents, but there is a way to help avoid conflict and still get the result you want. It involves giving the teen options.
Here is an example: Your daughter wants to spend the night at a friend's house, but it's unacceptable to you because the friend’s parents are away. Instead of saying no, you could say, "You can't spend the night there, but she's welcome to spend the night here or you can spend the night there when her parents return."

This provides the child with choices, which helps build her decision-making skills.

Improve your communication

Effective communication is much more than being able to talk; it is also the ability to listen and understand others, to "read" and interpret body language and to know the best ways to get to the point.

Communicating with teens is easier at certain times. For instance, as soon as the teen returns home from school is not a good time; s/he may still be processing the day's events. Wait until later in the evening for any lengthy discussion. When the two of you are alone in the car can be a great time to talk because it is unstructured time and the two of you are looking straight ahead, not at each other, which could make it easier for some teens to be open and honest.

To open the channels of communication, use open-ended questions (those that require more than a one-word answer) or questions that require a feeling response. "What happened at your audition? How did it feel?"

Stay focused on the conversation. Doing something else while you are talking, such as typing or working, is rude. It sends a message to the listener that you do not think the conversation is worthy of your full attention, and it could inhibit the listener's responses to what you say. If you are too busy to stop what you are doing when someone initiates a conversation, ask if you can schedule another time to talk.
If you do get into an argument
Arguments are inevitable, but you should remain respectful.
Do not resort to name-calling.
Try the five-second rule. Because we sometimes say things without thinking of the consequences, wait five seconds before you comment on what has just been said. Use this time to exercise control and think about what you should say.
Stick to the issue at hand. Talk only about the present point of disagreement. Bringing up or engaging in discussions about past problems adds the proverbial fuel to the fire. It also shifts the focus from the present problem, which means it probably will not get resolved and will cause trouble again.
Manage your anger. Anger is a natural emotion, especially when you are having a disagreement. However, do not allow your anger to turn violent. If you feel your anger reaching that point, leave the scene immediately and do something safe to calm yourself down such as counting to 20, taking a brisk walk or exercising.

Signs and Symptoms of Use

Even under the best of circumstances, some youths choose to use alcohol and other drugs. It’s important to be aware of the signs of possible use:

Changes in behavior
- Decreased interest in usual activities; dropping out of extracurricular activities such as school clubs and sports
- Spending less time with old friends; being secretive about new friends or activities
- Loss of interest in family affairs
- Mood swings
- Blowups or bouts of anger about small matters
- Prolonged sadness or depression
- Increased time spent alone
- Always needing money or having an excess of money

Changes at school
- Falling grades
- Attendance or behavior problems

Changes in appearance
- Irregular sleeping patterns
- Red eyes
- Deteriorating personal hygiene
- Strange odors, odor of alcohol
- Sudden decrease or increase in appetite

Material evidence
- Marijuana logos, drawings, posters, etc.
- Marijuana seeds
- Plastic bags, pipes, cigarette paper
- Aerosol containers, bags, balloons (may be inhalant abuse)
- Disappearance of valuable items or money in the home
What if someone you know is using drugs or alcohol?

If you are concerned that a youth may be using, speak with him or her in a calm, rational way when he or she is not under the influence. Discuss why you believe the youth may be using alcohol and/or drugs, including any evidence that supports your feelings. In addition, explain your concern for the youth's physical and mental wellness.

To take the next step in getting the help your child needs, you should contact your child’s physician or make a direct referral to an approved adolescent outpatient provider for an assessment. The important thing is to share your concerns with someone, a friend, partner, clergy or school counselor.

The Massachusetts Substance Abuse Information and Education Helpline (800-327-5050 or 617-292-5065) has Information and Referral Specialists that provide information on approved adolescent outpatient programs and other services and answer questions about the referral process and other services. Services are free and anonymous. Interpreter services are available in over 140 different languages for non-English speaking callers.
Part II
A Comprehensive Guide to Treatment for Both Youth and Adults
Understanding the Continuum of Care

The road to recovery is a different journey for each individual. Below are some terms to help you better understand the treatment options along the continuum of care and what role they might play in recovery.

Detox
A short-term (usually less than a week), medically-supervised program that rids the body of chemical dependence

Inpatient Rehabilitation
A program in which the patient stays for a longer period of time to receive counseling and other support services

Transitional Support Services
A short-term residence at which a patient may stay after completing detox while he or she waits for a long-term residential opening

Residential Rehabilitation (also called Half Way or Sober Houses)
A group residential home with therapy and support groups where a person stays for a few months, or even up to a year, while she or he resumes school, work, and other activities

Outpatient Rehabilitation
A wide array of rehab services, ranging from biweekly therapy sessions to the more intensive, such as a few hours daily on most days of the week

For an up-to-date listing of services contact the Massachusetts Substance Abuse Information and Education Helpline (1-800-327-5050) or go to www.helpline-online.com.

Ongoing Support and Self Help
Support groups such as AA, NA, Al-Anon, Al-A-Teen offer daily or weekly meetings. Although this guide contains a list of support

Making Decisions about Substance Abuse Treatment

The following questions are intended to help you to assess recommended treatment options:

1. Why do you believe the treatment in this program is indicated? How does it compare to other programs or services available?

2. What are the credentials and experience of the members of the treatment team, and will the team include a psychiatrist with knowledge and skills in substance abuse treatment?

3. What treatment approaches does this program use regarding chemical dependency; detoxification; abstinence; individual, family, and group therapy; use of medications; a twelve-step program; mutual-help groups; relapse prevention; and a continuing recovery process?

4. Based on your evaluation, are there other psychiatric problems in addition to the substance abuse problem? If so, will these be addressed in the treatment process?

5. How will the patient’s family be involved in the patient’s substance abuse treatment—including the decision for discharge and the after-care?

6. What will treatment cost? Are the costs covered by my insurance or health plan?

7. If appropriate, how will the patient continue education while in treatment?
8. If this treatment is provided in a hospital or residential program, is it approved by the Joint Commission for the Accreditation of Healthcare Organization (JCAHO)? If appropriate, is this substance abuse treatment program a separate unit accredited for youngsters of our child’s age?

9. How will the issue of confidentiality be handled during and after treatment?

10. How long will this phase of the treatment process continue? Will I reach my insurance limit before treatment in this phase is completed?

11. When the patient is discharged from this phase of treatment, how will it be decided what types of ongoing treatment will be necessary, how often, and for how long?

12. Does this program provide less intensive/step-down treatment services?

MOAR’s Mission
To organize recovering individuals, families and friends into a collective voice to educate the public about the value of recovery from alcohol and other addictions.

MOAR’s Vision
MOAR envisions a society where addiction is treated as a significant public health issue and recovery is recognized as valuable to all our communities.

MOAR’s Message
We seek to continue to build a recovery informed society where recovery becomes a societal "norm" and prevention a societal "given."

MOAR proudly supports the Allston-Brighton Substance Abuse Task Force and its mission to bring together the community to provide substance abuse disorder awareness and effect positive change.
Become a Task Force Member

Anyone who lives or works in Allston-Brighton or is committed to the mission of the Task Force may become a member by contacting one of the staff or another member of the Task Force to express interest. You also can complete a membership form which is available at all Task Force meetings, on the task force website and in the office of the coordinator at 617-789-2967 or 617-789-2575. A full list of Task Force members is available on our website, www.abdrugfree.org.

Our volunteers help out in many ways, including the following working groups:

- Youth Summit: plan, coordinate and facilitate all aspects of the annual Youth Summit
- Recovery Walk: plan and coordinate all aspects of the Recovery Walk
- Underage Drinking Prevention: act in an advisory capacity to all aspects of the Underage Drinking, DPH-funded initiative
- Youth: coordinate and facilitate activities to reduce substance abuse in our community’s youth
- Communications/ Media: develop communications to support Task Force goals and activities
- Fundraising and Sustainability: seek additional funding opportunities for the Task Force

Meetings

The entire Task Force meets on the second Tuesday of alternating months (January, March, May, July, September and November). Meetings are 2 p.m. – 4 p.m. at the Oak Square YMCA Teen Center at 615 Washington Street in Brighton.

Funding

The ABSATF is funded by SAMHSA’s Drug Free Communities Program, the Massachusetts Department of Public Health Underage Drinking Prevention Grant, the City of Boston No
Drugs Coalition grant, St. Elizabeth’s Medical Center, and local businesses and higher education institutions.
Allston-Brighton Task Force Youth Coalition

Do you know someone between the ages of 14 and 18 who wants to make a difference in the community?

The Allston Brighton Youth Coalition, Teens Inspiring People, promotes a healthy Allston-Brighton community by working on projects that prevent underage drinking and youth substance use. TIP is made up of high school students who either live or go to school in Allston Brighton.

"I joined the Youth Coalition because I wanted to be more aware about the consequences and effects of substance abuse...educate my peers...and be a role model for my younger sisters." -Vivian, age 17

TIP peer leaders:

- Educate the community about the consequences of buying alcohol for underage youth through Sticker Shock Campaigns and Shoulder Tap surveys
- Work with the Allston Brighton Substance Abuse Task Force to present a Youth Summit and an annual Town Hall Meeting
- Build leadership skills, have fun, meet new people and get paid!

For more information on the Youth Coalition: Teens Inspiring People, please call 617-789-2140 or visit www.abdrugfree.org.
